

HID Lighting

(High Intensity Discharge)

- Introduced in the early 1990's
- Uses a step up coil to convert 12V to 25,000V while in operation
- Does not charge body of vehicle, water stream or extrication tool
- Electrical arc within a quartz tube produces a light color that closely resembles sunlight
- Fire/Shock hazard is high

